UNDERGRADUATE VERSION OF THE STANFORD CAMPUS CLIMATE SURVEY

The following screenshots show how the survey appeared to undergraduates. The survey is programmed so that each question appears on its own page. Students navigate by clicking “Next”. In this document, each “Back/Quit/Next” set of buttons indicates a page break in the survey.

NOTE: Every page of the survey has the red box with confidential resources and the Stanford seal and name. They have been omitted from most of the following screenshots, but do appear on every single page of the survey.

. Thank you for taking the Stanford Campus Climate Survey!

Please use the "Next" and "Back" buttons to navigate between the questions within the questionnaire. Do not use your browser buttons.

If at any time during the survey, you would like to exit, please use the “Quit” button below. Using this button will save all of the data you have already entered and ensure you are able to return to the same location to complete the survey.
Stanford Campus Climate Survey 2015

Stanford is asking all students to complete this short survey on climate and community here at Stanford. Responses to this survey will be used to improve Stanford’s policies and programs.

The participation of all students, graduate and undergraduate, of all gender identities, is vital to our efforts to collect valid and representative data.

This survey is completely ANONYMOUS and voluntary. Your response will NOT be part of any academic, medical, or disciplinary record. You may choose to skip any questions in this survey and may exit this survey at any time.

This survey should take most students 10 to 15 minutes to complete.

Every student who completes the survey will be offered a $30 thank you gift. At the conclusion of the survey, you will have the opportunity to receive an Amazon gift card or to donate your gift to a charitable organization.

TRIGGER WARNING: Some of the questions on this survey use explicit language, including anatomical names of body parts and behaviors to ask about sexual situations. This survey also asks about sexual assault and other forms of sexual violence. Phone numbers of resources for support will be available on every page of the survey, should you need them.

This is an anonymous climate survey and does NOT constitute notice to the University of Title IX prohibited conduct that would trigger a response from the University. Should you wish to report Title IX prohibited conduct, please contact the University’s Title IX Office at titleix@stanford.edu or (650) 498-4965. For additional resources and reporting options, please visit notalone.stanford.edu.

By clicking the “Next” button below, you indicate that you have read and considered the previous information about the survey, and that you agree to participate in the survey.

Section 3: Unwanted Sexual Experiences

Trigger Warning: Some of the questions in this survey use explicit language, including anatomical names of body parts and specific behaviors to ask about sexual situations. This survey also asks about sexual assault and other forms of sexual violence which may be upsetting. You may skip questions or leave the survey at any time. Phone numbers of resources for support will be available on every page of the survey, should you need them.

The next set of questions asks you about things that may have occurred without your consent since you came to Stanford. At Stanford consent is defined according to the following guidelines:

- Consent is an affirmative act or statement by each person that is informed, freely given, and mutually understood. It is the responsibility of each person involved in a sexual activity to ensure that he or she has the affirmative consent of the other or others to engage in the sexual activity. Affirmative consent must be ongoing throughout a sexual activity and can be revoked at any time. Lack of protest or resistance does not mean consent, nor does silence mean consent. Consent to one act by itself does not constitute consent to another act.

Please remember that this survey is completely CONFIDENTIAL. Your response will NOT be part of any academic, medical, or disciplinary record.

Stanford Campus Climate Survey 2015

Stanford is asking all students to complete this short survey on climate and community here at Stanford. Responses to this survey will be used to improve Stanford's policies and programs.

The participation of ALL students: graduate and undergraduate, of all gender identities, is vital to our efforts to collect valid and representative data.

This survey is completely ANONYMOUS and voluntary. Your response will NOT be part of any academic, medical, or disciplinary record. You may choose to skip any questions in this survey and may exit this survey at any time.

This survey should take most students 10 to 15 minutes to complete.

Every student who completes the survey will be offered a $30 thank you gift. At the conclusion of the survey, you will have the opportunity to receive an Amazon gift card or to donate your gift to a charitable organization.

TRIGGER WARNING: Some of the questions on this survey use explicit language, including anatomical names of body parts and behaviors to ask about sexual situations. This survey also asks about sexual assault and other forms of sexual violence. Phone numbers of resources for support will be available on every page of the survey, should you need them.

This is an anonymous climate survey and does NOT constitute notice to the University of Title IX prohibited conduct that would trigger a response from the University. Should you wish to report Title IX prohibited conduct, please contact the University's Title IX Office at titleix@stanford.edu or (650) 497-4055. For additional resources and reporting options, please visit notalone.stanford.edu.

By clicking the "Next" button below, you indicate that you have read and considered the previous information about the survey, and that you agree to participate in the survey.

Section 3: Unwanted Sexual Experiences

TRIGGER WARNING: Some of the questions in this survey use explicit language, including anatomical names of body parts and specific behaviors to ask about sexual situations. This survey also asks about sexual assault and other forms of sexual violence which may be upsetting. You may skip questions or leave the survey at any time. Phone numbers of resources for support will be available on every page of the survey, should you need them.

The next set of questions asks you about things that may have occurred without your consent while you were a graduate student at Stanford. At Stanford consent is defined according to the following guidelines:

Consent is an affirmative act or statement by each person that is informed, freely given, and mutually understood. It is the responsibility of each person involved in a sexual activity to ensure that he or she has the affirmative consent of the other or others to engage in the sexual activity. Affirmative consent must be ongoing throughout a sexual activity and can be revoked at any time. Lack of protest or resistance does not mean consent, nor does silence mean consent. Consent to one act by itself does not constitute consent to another act.

Please remember that this survey is completely CONFIDENTIAL. Your response will NOT be part of any academic, medical, or disciplinary record.

Have you experienced any of the following, without your consent, since you started graduate school at Stanford?

Please indicate whether one or more persons have TRIED to or DID any of the following. (By "TRIED to" we mean that someone attempted but did not complete the behavior.)

For each item, please select one answer in both the "TRIED to" and "DID" columns.
